Report of Superintendent of Schools.

To the Citizens of Southport:

This brings us to the close of another school year, and I am thankful that I can say that it has been one of real progress. Your school committee have toiled assiduously to give to the youth of this community their best, that they may have a sure foundation for life's future activities. To these loyal men much credit belongs.

As far as my own efforts are concerned, I can say that I have kept principle as my strong tower, for this is the key to all real progress in this life. To stand by principle is not the smoothest passage to the end of life's little journey, but it is the living and successful way. It is the element in history that towers high and shines with a clear light; an obelisk that shall forever endure.

We, as educators and parents, are responsible for the future activities of those who are soon to take our places in the world. Let it never be said of any of us that we have failed to inculcate principle in our youth, for if we do judgment shall overtake us.

It is with a feeling of regret that I have to point out a matter concerning teachers: Our universities are sending out hundreds of young men and women each year. These strong, well equipped heads are asking this question: How may I best serve humanity, that the world may take a step upward in a moral and spiritual way? This ought to be the cry of every teacher who comes to this island town of Southport. We have bright children here, but it is not enough to teach them books; they must be educated to see that character is more than books. No community is doing its best unless it takes this into consideration. What the world needs, and what the world is going to have is teachers of this type ; teachers who by precept and example lead children to things positive—never negative.

Our first graduation exercises occurred last spring, and there were eight graduates. You will all agree with me that this was an occasion to be proud of. Two of the young men are now at Tilton. Of the young women, one is in the Normal School, and two have been teaching. One is in a hospital, studying to become a trained nurse, and there are others now in school here who will finish the course in the near future. These are bright boys and girls who are planning for future success, and I pray that good opportunities may open before them.

I bought new books according to the vote at the last town meeting, which have been well cared for, and the children have progressed by the use of modern methods. One of the best paying propositions in the whole school work is to provide the children with good school books.

April last the law changed, and I had one school changed into a Class "B" High School. The State Inspector of Schools was here this month, and indicated that he was satisfied with the work we are doing.

As far as the teaching force is concerned, I have been satisfied with the teaching part, but as I have already indicated, we must stand by God and the Church.

In closing this report, I am thankful to you all for your kindness, and hope you may continue to grow in God's grace until He says: "Enough! Come up higher."

Very sincerely yours,
